PROJECT REFERENCE: KA220-ADU-81D2BF47

2nd NEWSLETTER of Eco-media project

October 2022

Start date: 01-12-2021 / End date: 01-12-2023

In a digitalized world, professionals should play a key role in guiding young people to engage in volunteering activities as they represent the “bridge” between youth and active society.

The outputs of the project:

- Descriptive map of community media approaches for digital youth work
- Curriculum on climate change
- Toolkit in the scope of climate change
- ECO-Media e-learning platform

During the first months of the implementation of the project, partners in the framework of the first output of the project:

- Distributed an online survey in all partner countries on digital methods for youth engagement in volunteering activities
- Implemented a comparative analysis of the surveys' national findings

→ Partners gathered information on the digital methods applied in their countries regarding youth engagement in volunteering activities and developed a consolidated comparative report with the national findings.

- Co-designed a pedagogical framework for best practices in youth work and gathered 30 Best practices.

→ Partners worked closely together to create a database of best practices in all partner countries. From the survey implemented, partners gathered 30 best practices from their countries (Spain, Cyprus, Greece, Italy, Austria, and Finland).

- The consortium created a database of community media

→ The consortium conducted a very extensive survey on the Community Media of their local contexts. A total number of 150 Community Media are to be collected in order to actively engage them in different stages of the project.
